Burzych Appointed to State Bar of Michigan Business Impact Committee

Okemos, MI – Mark J. Burzych of the Okemos-based law firm of Fahey Schultz Burzych Rhodes PLC, has been appointed to the State Bar of Michigan's Business Impact Committee. The Committee is part of the State Bar of Michigan's Judicial Crossroads Task Force that will focus on the future of Michigan's court system.

Mr. Burzych, along with the other appointed committee members, will embark on a comprehensive review and evaluation of our justice system and make recommendations on how Michigan can best meet the needs of the public and business in the face of the transformational economic changes underway in our state. The Business Impact Committee is due to have its recommendation to the Task Force by mid-2010.

Fahey Schultz Burzych Rhodes PLC brings together legal experts from several specialties to serve its clients with a fresh approach to quality legal services. The firm has more than 100 years of combined experience in the representation of municipalities, employers in labor matters, franchised businesses and public utilities. More information about the firm is available at www.fsblawyers.com.
